

BBC micro:bit in science and design and technology - the micro:bit STEM roadshow

Exclusive evoucher

Enter the code BBCM16 when booking your place to receive 100% discount for teachers attending from your school. Then simply fill in the details below and bring this voucher along to the BBC micro:bit CPD activity to receive £44 bursary funding for your school towards travel expenses.

Participant name:

School name:

School address:

.....

Authorised signature:

Project ENTHUSE is a unique partnership of government, charities and employers that have come together to bring about inspired science teaching through the continuing professional development of teachers of science and technicians across the UK. The ENTHUSE Partners are the Wellcome Trust, the Department for Education, BAE Systems, Biochemical Society, BP, Institution of Engineering and Technology, Institution of Mechanical Engineers, Rolls-Royce and Royal Society of Chemistry.